

Otolaryngology Technician NEC 8446

Unlock your potential!

What to expect from ENT

- ◆ 60 Training days divided into a Didactic (book instruction) phase and a Clinical (hands on) phase.
- ◆ Work side by side with Air Force Trainees (The Air Force does not have its own ENT School)
- ◆ 22 months of Obligated Service upon graduating ENT School.
- ◆ No shipboard billets at this time; however, it is possible to receive orders to a ship as a Surgical Technologist.

Consider these points...

- ◆ Smaller hospitals enable you to participate in many facets of the facility.
- ◆ Larger hospitals excel as teaching arenas and reward strong leadership skills.
- ◆ You will be working one on one with your surgeons, which results in a high level of responsibility.
- ◆ This is a great NEC for you to show initiative

Selected Re-Enlistment Bonus

- ◆ Zone A = 1.0
- ◆ Currently no bonus for Zone B or C.
- ◆ Calculate your potential SRB:
 - SRB Level x Base Pay x the number of years you are reenlisting for
 - An E-3 with over 3 yrs; base pay of 1,442.10 and reenlisting for 4 years would receive an SRB of $5,768.40.
 - An E-5 with over 4 yrs; base pay of 1,903.50 and reenlisting for 4 years would receive $7,614.00.

Off Duty Education

- ◆ Since our NEC is shore intensive, this is an excellent opportunity to attend off duty education in pursuit of your goals.
- ◆ As an ENT Tech, you will find you have the opportunities to prepare a well rounded package for most Officer programs as well as additional “C”-Schools.
